RECOMMENDED TEXTS AND MATERIALS

COURSE NOTES

Course Expectations:

- Tutorial: Students are expected to participate actively in the tutorial.
- Preparation and homework: Students are expected to read the pages from the textbook listed on the syllabus before class (you can focus on the highlighted pages). Additionally, the exercises listed on the syllabus under "HA" have to be completed in writing. Grades are based on the completion of homework, not on its correctness.
- Presentation: See the syllabus for presentation topics. Presentations are usually done in a group. Each student should speak for about five minutes. Students have to submit a PowerPoint presentation on D2L no later than 24 hours before their presentation. Make sure to introduce all new vocabulary on your slides. Take your time to introduce new words. Make sure that everyone can follow your presentation.
- Short Essays: Over the course of the semester, students will write three short essays (the first two papers will be 300 words long, the third paper will be 500 words long). See the syllabus for essay topics. The essays will be graded based on comprehensibility, correctness, style, and argument development.
- Three unit tests: Each test will assess students' knowledge of grammar, vocabulary, and cultural materials covered in the preceding two units of the textbook Stationen (i.e., test 1 will cover units 1 and 2; test 2 will cover units 3 and 4; test 3 will cover units 5 and 6).
- Final exam: The final exam covers units 1 through 6 from the textbook Stationen.
- Missed tests/quizzes/assignments/tutorials cannot be rescheduled. However, the instructor may consider making alternate arrangements if students can document either medical or severe personal problems.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
 - a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
 - b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
 - c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
 - d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.”

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student’s work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (<http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/>) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
